Top 5 Excuses for Driving Alone to Work

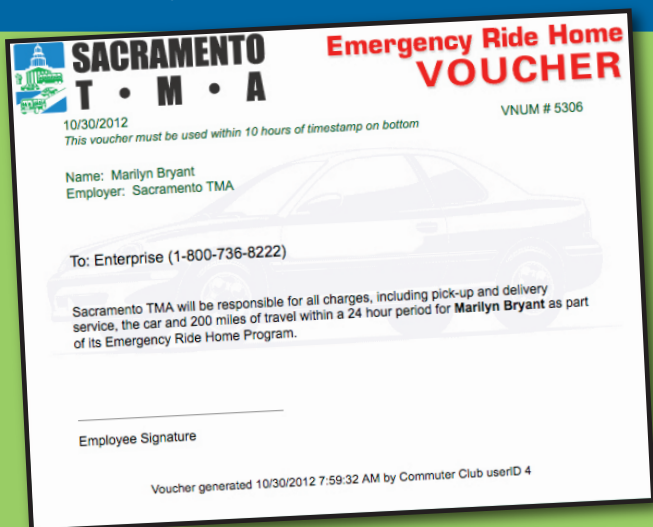

5. My car needs the exercise.
4. I'm contributing to the ozone layer.
3. My chiropractor says I need to be cramped behind a steering wheel by myself.
2. I love the reception on my car radio.
1. ~~I can't get a ride home quickly if I really need one.~~

If you carpool, vanpool, bicycle, walk or take the bus, train or light rail to work, you have a ride home if you have an urgent or emergency situation.

It's true. If you don't drive alone to work at least 60 percent of your work week, you may take a taxi or rentacar if you need to get home for the following reasons:

- An immediate family member has an emergency
- A serious problem arises at your child's school or daycare
- Fire or burglary damages your home
- You are sick and can't wait for your normal ride home
- Your carpool or vanpool partner has an emergency and you have no way to get home
- Unscheduled, supervisor-approved overtime
